Academic Scholarships

Each year The Georgia Trust for Historic Preservation awards two $1,000 academic scholarships to encourage the study of historic preservation and related fields. Recipients are chosen on the basis of leadership and academic achievement. The Georgia Trust established its scholarship program to ensure that knowledgeable leaders continue to enter the field of historic preservation.

These scholarships are presented to encourage the pursuit of degrees that will lead to working in the preservation field and thereby assist the Georgia Trust in its goals to conserve Georgia's built environment, inform the public about the benefits of historic preservation and assist individuals and their communities in their restoration and preservation projects.

Hubert Owens Scholarship:

This $1,000 scholarship is given in honor of the founding dean of the University of Georgia Landscape Architecture Program—now the College of Environment and Design—which houses the Historic Preservation Program.

B. Phinzy Spalding Scholarship:

This $1,000 scholarship is named after the late charter member of The Georgia Trust and one of the state's pre-eminent historians, educators and preservationists.

To be eligible:

- Applicant must be pursuing a Bachelors or Masters degree in Historic Preservation or a related field (such as Archaeology, Architecture, History or Planning) at a Georgia school.
- Applicant must be enrolled full time both currently and for the upcoming semesters. Awards are announced in the spring and distributed for the following fall semester. Awards will apply toward tuition and go directly to the applicant's school at the beginning of the fall semester.
- Applicants must be U.S. citizens and residents of Georgia.

Students applying for the scholarships are encouraged to plan to stay and work in Georgia following graduation.

Applications must include the following:

- Application form
- Official transcript
- Resume (include any academic honors, school and community involvement)
- 1 personal and 2 academic letters of recommendation
- Personal statement addressing why you are applying for a scholarship. Include a statement concerning previous or planned future involvement in historic preservation.

Nominations must be postmarked by Friday, February 10, 2017
