Day 02

Friday, May 16: A Day on the Ashley

10am - 12pm

- Tour of Drayton Hall

Drayton Hall c.1738 is America's oldest unrestored plantation house open to the public. Renowned for its Palladian-inspired architecture, this 18th-century architectural masterpiece stands alone as the only authentic survivor of the Ashley River's colonial past, intact and in near original condition with no modern additions. Drayton Hall is a National Historic Landmark and a historic site of the National Trust for Historic Preservation, the entire site, including the historic grounds with its ancient live oaks, broad vistas, vanished structures, and rare period features, serves as a testimony to America's history.

12:15pm

1:15 - 3:15pm

- Lunch at Middleton Place Garden Market

- Tour of Middleton Place

Middleton Place is home to America's oldest landscaped gardens and is one of South Carolina's most important historic sites. First settled in 1675, only five years after the first English colonists arrived in the Carolinas, this National Historic Landmark connects to the very fabric of our nation's complex history. For over two and a half centuries, these manicured gardens have welcomed visitors from all over the world. As you walk the same footpaths as pre-Revolutionary statesmen, we recognize and celebrate the achievements of hundreds of enslaved people who built and maintained these gardens.

Day 03

Saturday, May 17

9:00 am

- Private, curated tour of the Aiken-Rhett House Museum
The Aiken-Rhett House Museum is the only preserved "as-found" house museum on the peninsula, and one of two in the state. This preservation style transports you back in time; with collection items and architectural features frozen in their c.1895 state. In addition to its unique style, the remaining dependencies are some of the only surviving enslaved quarters interpreted and open to the public. Enjoy a private tour of this powerful and unique property with one of the Museum's most knowledgeable staff members.

10:30am - 1pm

- Private tour of four private, residential homes South of Broad
In a truly unique and special opportunity, go behind the gate of some of the most beautiful and historic private residences in Charleston's Old and Historic Districts. Led by expert guides, guests will tour both interior and exterior of these historic homes to learn more about architectural details, landscape design and more.

4 pm

- Wine reception in a private Charleston garden
Guests will have the opportunity to enjoy a selection of wine in the garden of a private residential home "South of Broad". This unique experience is only available thanks to the generosity of the homeowners and stewards of Charleston's historic homes.
